

Dresden (Germany) – New York
Funding of Conference Participation on Diabetes and/or Depression
in Germany

---

What's it about?

In 2017 SUNY Upstate Medical University (SUNY-UMU) joined the 'International Network on Diabetes and Depression (IN2D)', which is coordinated by Technische Universität Dresden (TU Dresden), Germany. The network aims to conduct leading-edge international health and medical research, initiate joint funding programs, promote staff and student mobility exchanges, engage and enable industry and health workforce partnerships, to support proof of concept projects, local business opportunities and health professional educational opportunities.

To promote collaborative partnerships and joint projects between SUNY-UMU and TU Dresden in diabetes or depression research groups, we are offering financial support to doctorate students who want to participate in conferences in Germany.

Who is eligible?

- doctorate students at SUNY working on diabetes or depression research projects

How much funding will I get?

- EUR 89 per day
- EUR 700 once for travel costs

How to apply:

Please fill out the attached form and send in all required documents until 22nd January 2018 via e-mail to Felix Klee, Department for Development and International Affairs (see below).
